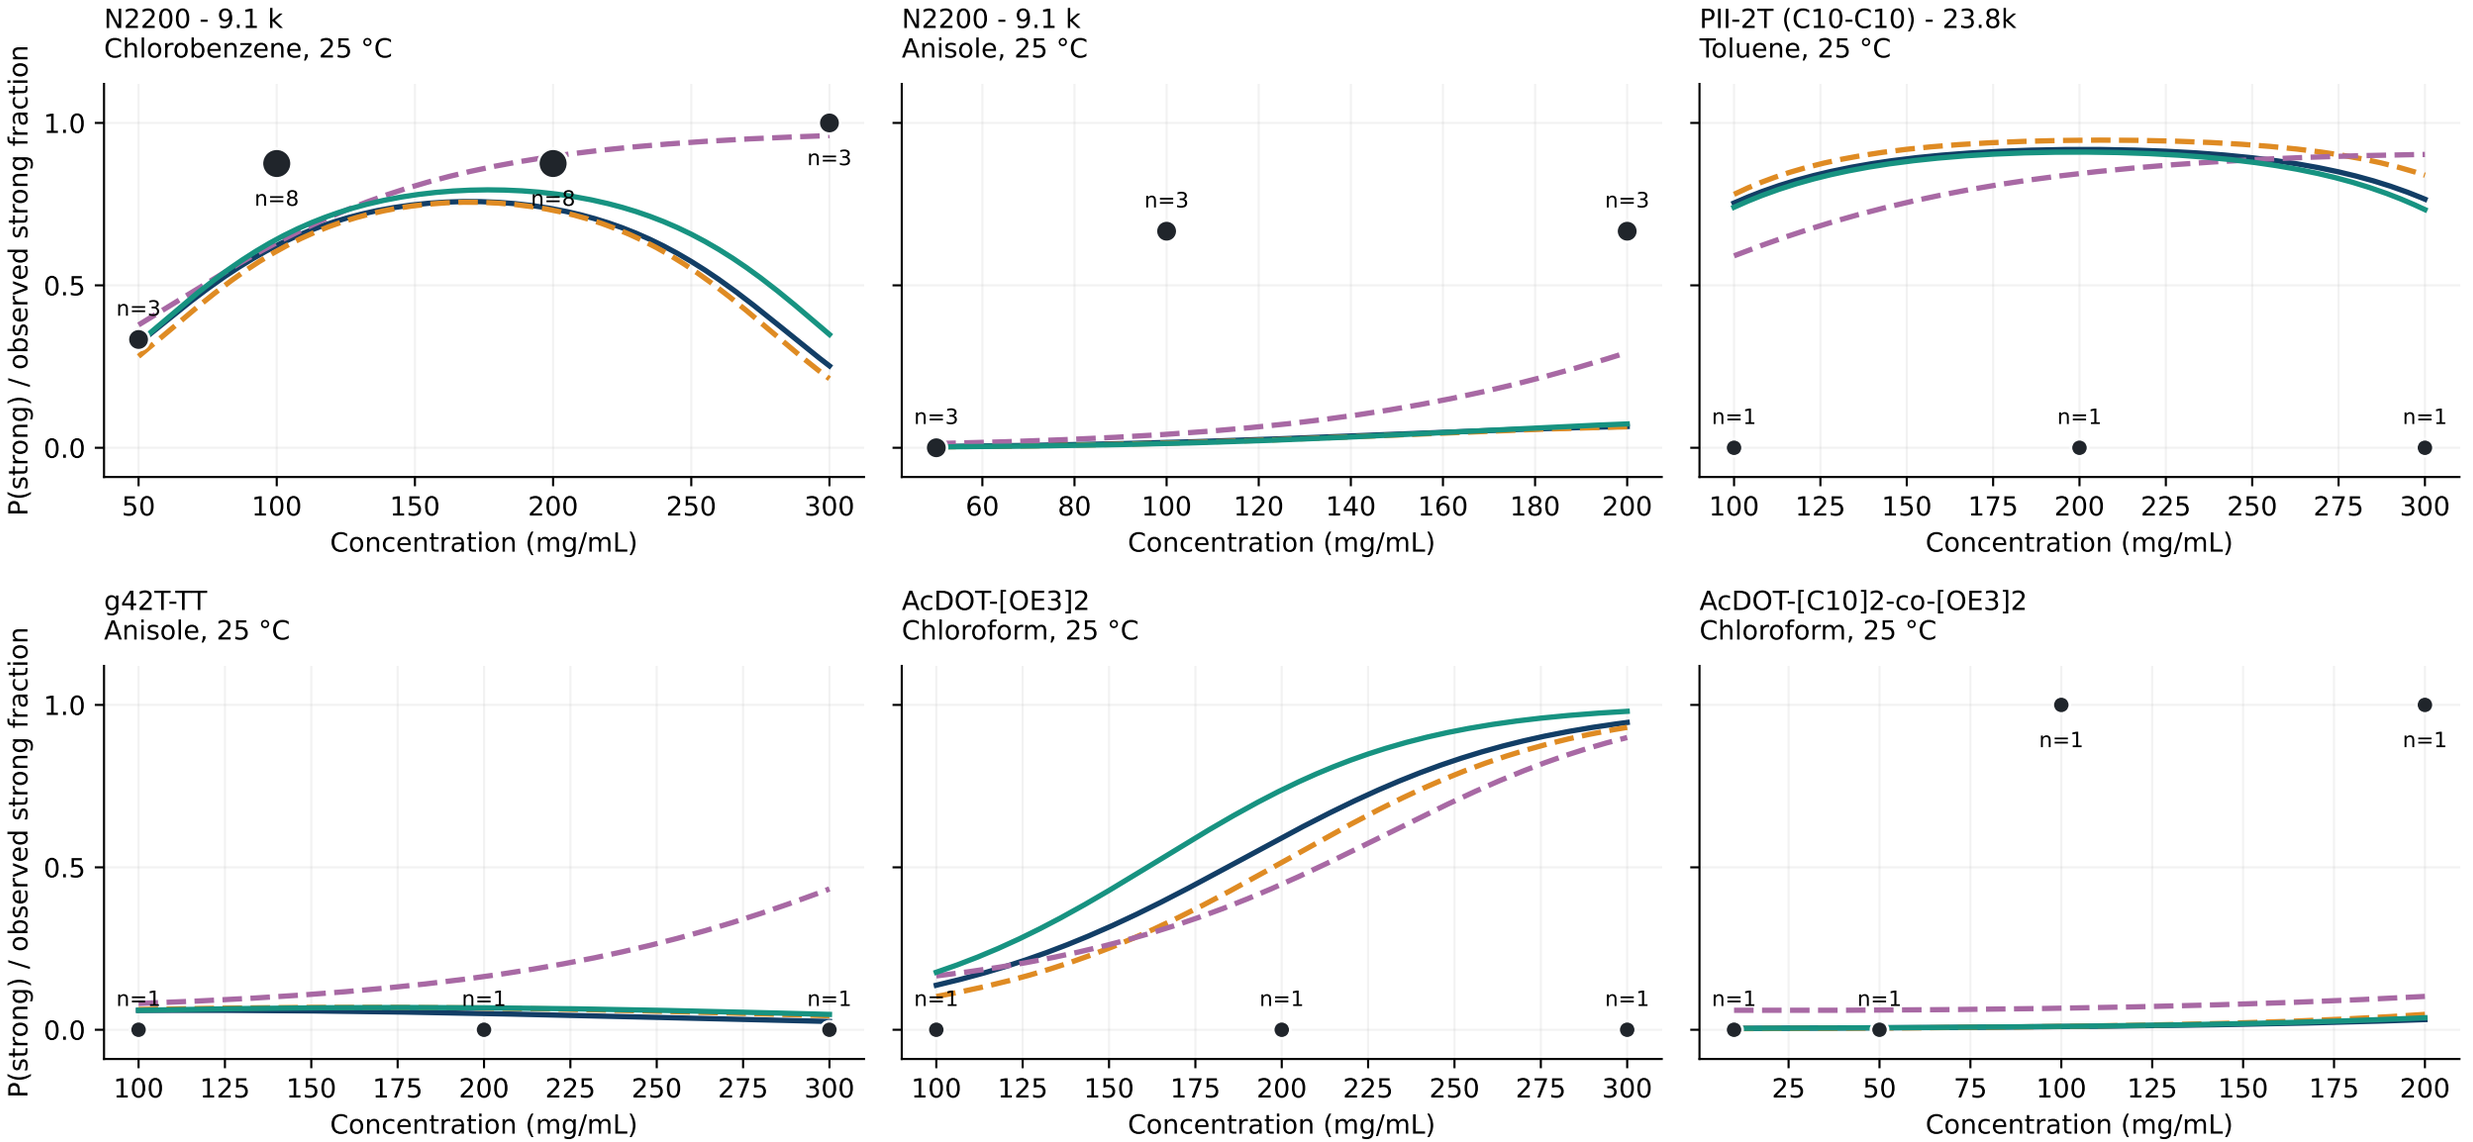
Development: concentration response with the entire chemistry left out


Diagnostic examples include targeted errors and adverse effects; curves span measured concentrations only.